DATE: July 11, 2019

Members, Board of Trustees

SUBJECT: Commission on Judicial Nominees Evaluation – Annual Appointment and Reappointment of Members, Officers and Alternates

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Commission on Judicial Nominees Evaluation (JNE) is an agency of the State Bar created by Government Code section 12011.5² for the purpose of evaluating judicial candidates who are under consideration for appointment by the Governor. Pursuant to statute, prior to exercising judicial appointment authority, the governor is required to submit the names of candidates to the JNE Commission for an investigation and evaluation of the candidates' judicial qualifications. The JNE Commission must report back to the governor within 90 days of the date of submission its rating of the candidate as one of the following: exceptionally well qualified, well qualified, qualified or not qualified. The JNE Commission must also provide the reasons for its rating.

This report recommends the annual appointments for the 2020 JNE Commission including: (1) reappointment of current members; (2) appointment of new members and alternates; and (3) appointment of the Chair and Vice-Chair.

² See Attachment A.

BACKGROUND

The JNE Commission is composed of both public (non-lawyer) and lawyer members, up to a maximum of 38 members. The JNE Commission meets approximately six times per year on a calendar that begins in June and ends in April (the JNE year). The first meeting of the new 2020 JNE Commission will be in June 2020, and the final meeting will be in April 2021. Each meeting is two days long. In 2018, the JNE Commission completed and transmitted to Governor Edmund G. Brown 236 judicial candidate evaluations.

Commissioners serve three consecutive one-year terms, pending satisfactory annual evaluations from the JNE Commission Chair. Only the Chair may serve a fourth year. Each year, commissioners must reapply and confirm that they will be able to keep up with the demands of the JNE Commission workload. Commissioners seeking reappointment have preference over new applicants because of the steep learning curve involved in mastering the JNE software and developing a firm understanding of the investigation and evaluation process.

New commissioners are required to participate in a two-day orientation in January 2020, “shadow” a candidate investigation, attend the April 2020 meeting (the final meeting of the 2019 JNE Commission) for observational purposes only, and participate in their first meeting as full-fledged commissioners at the June 2020 meeting (the first meeting of the 2020 JNE Commission). Twice per year, JNE commissioners are provided anti-bias training.

Ideal candidates are leaders in their respective areas of practice or employment, and represent a diversity of background, perspective and experience. The criteria used to consider the lawyer applicants include length of time in practice, type of practice and area of specialty. Every year, the State Bar strives to add one former member of the judiciary to the incoming class.

DISCUSSION

The appointment process began with a comprehensive review of the application materials by current JNE Commission Chair Diane Bellas and Vice-Chair Aminder Singh, both of whose input was solicited and considered by the Board Executive Committee Appointments Liaisons. The Board Executive Committee’s Appointments Liaisons’ recommendations for reappointment of members and appointment of new members, alternates, and officers for the 2020 JNE Commission follow.

Reappointment of Current Members to the 2020 JNE Commission

Twenty-five members of the current JNE Commission have applied for reappointment: 13 members of the first year class, 11 members of the second year class and one member of the third year class, current Vice-Chair and Chair candidate Aminder Singh. All twenty-five of the commissioners who applied for reappointment received a rating of satisfactory or above on their performance evaluations and a recommendation for reappointment from JNE Chair Diane Bellas. Based on the Chair's evaluations and recommendations, and the historic practice of reappointing those commissioners willing and able to carry on the work of the JNE Commission into a new committee year, the Appointments Liaisons recommend reappointing the 25 members of the current JNE Commission who have applied for reappointment as set forth below under the recommendations section of this report.

Appointment of New Members to the 2020 JNE Commission

Assuming approval of the twenty-five members recommended for reappointment, there remain thirteen vacancies to fill on the 2020 JNE Commission. Thirty-seven applications were received: five public (non-lawyer) applicants, two former judicial officer applicants, and the remainder, lawyer applicants. To fill the thirteen vacancies, it is recommended that the Board appoint two public (non-lawyer) applicants, one former judicial officer applicant and 10 lawyer applicants, as described here (in alphabetical order within applicant categories) and proposed in the recommendations immediately below.

Appointment of Officers to the 2020 JNE Commission

JNE Commission Chair

Historically, the JNE Commission Vice Chair position has been used to prepare a member of the Commission to serve as the Chair. The Vice-Chair has substantial responsibilities and serving in that position provides a hands-on training opportunity to develop the expertise necessary to perform the functions of the Chair. Barring unforeseen circumstances, there is the expectation that the Vice-Chair will serve as Chair the following year. The Chair is the only member of the JNE Commission that may serve a fourth year. Typically, there is only one candidate for Chair, the current Vice-Chair. That is the case in this appointments cycle. Aminder Singh, the current Vice-Chair, is the only candidate for Chair.

Appointments Liaisons Brandon Stallings and Mark Broughton interviewed Mr. Singh in person on Friday, June 7, 2019, and concur in recommending that he serve as Chair of the 2020 JNE Commission. Mr. Singh is a public defender for the County of Alameda.

JNE Commission Vice Chair

As previously stated, the JNE Commission Vice-Chair has substantial responsibilities. The following second year commissioners applied for the Vice-Chair position: Daniel Alexander, Reema El-Amamy, and Stella Ngai.⁴ The Appointments Liaisons interviewed the three commissioners in person on Friday, June 7, 2019, and were uniformly impressed with the level of interest and commitment shown by each of the candidates. Although a difficult choice given the high caliber of the candidates, the Appointments Liaisons concur in recommending that Stella Ngai serve as Vice-Chair of the 2020 JNE Commission. Ms. Ngai practices public entity law for the University of California, Office of the General Counsel in Oakland.
